

Guest Contributor Agreement

As a Guest contributor (“You”) agree to allow ThePullbox (along with its entire related social media) to publish original articles written by You (the “Posts”) on ThePullbox’s website (ThePullbox.com). You grant ThePullbox the non-exclusive, worldwide right to publish on thepullbox.com.com, syndicate, and distribute all or a portion of the Posts in any language, worldwide.

You grant ThePullbox the right to use Your name, likeness, information about You, and the logo of Your web site, if applicable, in connection with the Posts.

ThePullbox will retain the copyright of all original material created for their media outlets, while You will provide all reference material for content not created specifically for ThePullbox.com and their related media outlets.

You represent and warrant that You have the right to grant these rights; that the Posts are original; that they do not knowingly contain any untrue statements, invade any right of privacy, or infringe upon any statutory or common law copyright or otherwise violate the rights of any third party; and that all statements in the Posts that are asserted as facts are true and/or based upon reasonable research for accuracy.

You agree to cooperate in the defense of any legal action brought against ThePullbox from the publication of the Posts. You agree to reveal to ThePullbox owners any actual or potential conflict of interest, including but not limited to any financial interest in any product, firm, or commercial venture relating to the subject of the Posts. ThePullbox reserves the right to remove from ThePulbox.com, and any of its media outlets, any of the Posts that violate its publishing standards, available on the web at <http://thepullbox.com/about/terms-of-service>. (pending)

ThePullbox may illustrate the Posts. You grant ThePullbox the right to edit the Posts for publication.

This agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Wisconsin.

By submitting posts to ThePullbox, You indicate acceptance of these terms.